

After my adventure ride on the Easter weekend from Nelspruit, through to Barberton, Nelshoogte plantation and back to Nelspruit. I committed myself to do another one so that Yvette can also enjoy the multi-day riding experience.

I am planning a four day adventure on Uitsoek plantation from 21 to 24 September utilizing the Heritage day public holiday to make a long weekend with one days leave.

I will be leading the intermediate riders, but there is no reason for other riders not to come along. I have a number of GPS tracks which the fitter riders looking for more distance can follow. My intention is to do between 30 and 40Km a day over the 4 days with less than 1000m of climbing each day. Also those who do not feel like riding can stay at base and continue the next day. If the guys don't want to leave the family alone they can bring them along. The hut is big enough for 26 people, I think. There is also a great waterfall nearby which can be visited.

I hope to be able to get the same staff discount which will be R50/p/day. As I mentioned above, the organized rides will be mainly for intermediate riders, but more experienced riders are welcome to join us or to come and do their own thing on the plantation roads.

The accommodation is basically camping with a roof over your head. It is quite rustic but with one's own sleeping stuff and basic cooking equipment we can survive. Yvette and I will try to provide everything that is required to make life comfortable.

More details will be available for those that are interested
